

Game Synopsis

An evil blocktopus is dropping its block eggs on the city of whiteville. Once they turn black, they will hatch and turn into an evil army. It is up to you to use your magic box to catch all the blocktopus eggs. But watch out, the craft blocktopus is also dropping blockbombs that will cause you to lose a blockegg if you catch it. The city of whiteville is in your hands! Only you can prevent the blockpocalypse!

Controls

Touch anywhere on the screen to move your box () to the location you want. You can only move left and right. Slide it as well for a quicker movement.

Tap the Auto button () to have the game move your box automatically. It will catch most of the blocks but will make human like errors. It also runs the testing suite.

Game Play / Rules

The pink blocks () fall from the top of the screen at a randomly generated position. As you catch more and more of them, the gravity of the world increases, resulting in a faster freefall. Use your box () to catch them. However, you do not want to catch the darker and slightly larger blocks () as that will result in a point deduction. If too many of the light pink blocks fall (10) you will loose a life (). Once you lose all three lives, the game is over.
